Terms and Conditions

Definitions

Member means the person named on the membership card.

Membership period means the duration that the member maintains their Tier Level for. When a member reaches the Tier Points required to upgrade to the next Tier Level, the member will maintain their new Tier Level for a 3-month period from the day the required Tier Points were reached. The member must then earn the required Tier Points within their membership period in order to maintain their Tier Level.

Reward Points means points gained through purchases and gaming machine play at The Glen Hotel. Reward Points are a spendable currency and are displayed as a rolling Reward Point balance.

Secure Parking means the gated and fenced parking facility located at The Glen Hotel.

Tier Level means one of five levels of membership, determined by the sum of Tier Points the member has earned during the membership period.

Tier Points mean points gained through purchases and gaming machine play at The Glen Hotel. Tier Points are a non-spendable currency and determine the Tier Level of the member. Tier Points are displayed as a rolling Tier Point balance.

Tier Review Date means the date in which the member must reach the required Tier Points in order to maintain their Tier Level by. If the member does not reach the required Tier Points, they will be relegated to the corresponding Tier Level based on their Tier Point balance.
